

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a production machine that comprises a web server integrated control, said web server comprising software modules and at least one first software module comprising first means for realizing the control.